seen even a picture of this flag, yet, it was, for a period of five years, the official flag of the United States. Not only that but the flag pictured here was the original flag made by Mrs. Betsy Ann Bliss, who designed and sewed it. It is still in beautiful condition, as you can see, for the photo on the cover was taken this winter by Mr. Raymond Carpenter Colwell who is the son of the lady who made it. Mr. Colwell, who is staying with his daughter and son-in-law at their home on Barstow Street in Mattapoisett, dropped into the Presto office bringing the flag for us to see. He said that the flag was made for the second term inaugural parade for President Grover Cleveland and was after that the official flag for five years. He corresponded with Congressman Boland in 1959 who looked up the history and name in the Library of Congress. Congressman Boland wrote that it is called the Great Star Flag. The large star in the center of the field is, of course, Texas. The flag is beautifully made and was carefully preserved in a wooden box where it was wrapped in a protective cloth cover. Thanks to Mr. Colwell, who has a great interest in things of historical value, this little known flag will be preserved and treasured as a living part of United States History. The Great Star Flag - symbol of an expanding country.

GRADUATION EXERCISES HELD AT OLD ROCHESTER

James W. Wickenden, headmaster at Tabor Academy in Marion, was the guest speaker at the first graduation exercises at Old Rochester Regional High School, held last Friday night in the school auditorium. Mr. Wickenden, introduced by Gilbert D. Bristol, Jr., superintendent of the Regional School District, told the 75 graduates from Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester to "dare to be different despite criticism". He also said, "If you have talents of leadership, don't waste them. Develop your leadership potential. Our world needs it desperately, not just leaders to make decisions on Wall Street or in Washington, but men and women who can made decisions in their offices and homes, men and women with ideals as well as ideas."

Scholarship awards were presented by Principal Walter E. Bowman to the following: Susan Riddell, $100. from the Marion Mothers' Club and $200. from Old Rochester Regional Teachers' Association; Barbara Harriman, $200 from the Teachers' Association; Carol Woodcock, $200 from the Teachers' Association. Miss Woodcock's name also will be placed on the Harold D. Mahoney Memorial plaque to be hung in the school.

Also, from a scholarship fund established by an anonymous donor, Dorothy Washburn, $100, and Constance Pardy, $125; Barbara Phillips, $300 from the Irene Heuberger Memorial Nursing Scholarship; Carleton Vaughan, $100 from Benjamin E. Cushing Post 2425, Veterans of The graduates, dressed in red caps and gowns with white tassels, marched into the auditorium to the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance", played by Mrs. Harry Ostenfeldt, organist.

The Invocation was by the Rev. George Robinson, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Marion. The singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" was by the graduates and audience. The welcome address was given by Ross B. Hopkins, Jr., president of the graduating class. A vocal solo, "A Graduation Prayer", was by Sandra Briggs. A piano solo, excerpts from "Pastoral Tone Poem", composed and played by Peter Sawyer.

The Rev. Jeremiah Casey, SS.CC., assistant pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Mattapoisett, in the benediction said: "Eternal Father, in the name of Jesus Christ, I beseech Thee for the members of the Class of 1962 from Old Rochester High.

"Illuminate their intellects with supernatural faith; strengthen their wills with supernatural hope; and inflame their hearts with Thy Divine Love. Create in them Christlike ideals, attitudes, appreciations and habits that will enable them to think, judge, and act that they may always be a credit to them-

"Give them the necessary skills and docility to acquire an honest living; prudence to direct and guide their understanding; justice to regulate their wills and fortitude to defend and practice Thy Way, Thy Truth and Thy Life.

"Teach them to be modest and chaste in regard to themselves and others; to be joyfully respectful and obedient to their parents, teachers, ecclesiastical and civil superiors. Thus by Thy Grace will they grow to the Stature of Manhood and Womanhood in wisdom and grace.

"Enlighten their minds during this "Age of Space", that men do not create, but they merely discover, they find new energies, laws and secrets which You Almighty God in creating the world placed in the universe. Scientific progress in its deepest sense causes us to bend our knees in adoration to Thee.

"Grant them the grace to reflect frequently on the true purpose of life, namely, to know, love, and serve Thee, the Author of All Things.

"Imprint deeply on these young minds that their education does not cease on this graduation day but must continue all the days of their life even to that final graduation when they shall enjoy the reward of a life well spent, in Thy Heavenly Kingdom.

"O All Almighty and Eternal Father, we implore Thee keep the Class of 62 always close to You and bless them abundantly for time and eternity."

Bouquets of white carnations that decorated the stage were given to each girl graduate and each boy received a single buttonhole flower, presented by Mr. Bowman.

BANQUET HELD BY COOT COVE GROUP

The annual banquet of the Coot Cove Shooting Club was held at Meiling's on Saturday night preceded by a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Berthold Putman. The retiring president Clifford R. Tripp, Sr. presented the emblem to the incoming president John Anderson. Other incoming officers are David Hagen, vice president; Carol Field, secretary; Bert Putman, treasurer and John Field, armorer.

A gift was presented to Sargent and Mrs.
Edward Flad by the club. Much to the clubs' regret, they are being transferred to a Philadelphia tour of duty with the marines.

A shoot was held Sunday afternoon at the club shooting grounds. John Anderson won first prize, Bert Putman won second prize and John Field, third.

David Hagen will be host to the club at Emcee George Murphy, Hollywood Director and Producer, will introduce the all-star show, which includes among many others: Jane Powell, The Kingston Trio, Edgar Bergen and Rowan & Martin.

Adding a slight but important, political touch to an evening otherwise devoted to enjoying America's finest talent, will be the appearances of Massachusetts Governor John A. Volpe and New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

William A. Lincoln, Chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee ex-
